If you are also applying for interim orders, that is, orders to cover your case until a final hearing can take place, then you do not need to complete this affidavit. You will have to complete an affidavit in support of the interim orders you seek in your Initiating Application (Family Law). You should ensure that that affidavit also sets out those matters which you rely upon to file your Initiating Application (Family Law) without filing a certificate from a family dispute resolution practitioner.

You do not need to complete this affidavit if there is a consent order or if you are applying for orders in response to an application.
