Legal advice

Court staff cannot provide legal advice, although they can help with questions about legal procedure and the Court process.

It is important that you understand the meaning and effect of the orders you seek.

Even if you have decided to make your application without the help of a lawyer, you should obtain independent legal advice about the effect and consequences of the orders you propose and the rules of evidence that may apply to your affidavit.

If you are unsure of how to seek legal advice or how to choose a lawyer, the Law Society or Institute in your State or Territory may be able to help you.

If you think you may be eligible for legal aid, contact your nearest Legal Aid office. If you are an Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander you can also contact your local Aboriginal, or Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Legal Service.

You may also be able to obtain assistance from your nearest Community Legal Centre.

WARNING

A failure to give full and frank disclosure has serious consequences. These consequences may include you:

- having to file further documents;
- having to pay the other party's legal costs;
- being fined;
- being charged with contempt of court.

Change of financial circumstances

If your financial circumstances change significantly you must file a new Financial Statement. For Family Court Proceedings See Rule 13.06 of the Family Law Rules. For Federal Circuit Court proceedings see Rule 24.06 of the Federal Circuit Court Rules

SUPERANNUATION

Item 45

If you are making an application for orders for property settlement and you have a superannuation interest you must attach a completed Superannuation Information Form in relation to that interest to this financial statement. The Superannuation Information Form is available in a Kit from any Registry of the Family Court and from the Court's website. It is a form that you send to the Trustee of your superannuation plan and seeks information which is necessary to enable the type of superannuation interest to be identified, a valuation to be determined of most superannuation interests and to inform the Court of various matters which may affect the order it makes. Depending on the type of orders sought by you a valuation of your superannuation interest must be determined before the order can be made. For example, this is the case if a splitting order is sought in accordance with Section 90XT of the Family Law Act. You should seek legal advice about these matters.

Part J Superannuation

You must attach a completed Superannuation Information Form for each superannuation interest if you are seeking an order for property settlement.
